"My Trip to The Motley Fool"

My trip to The Motley Fool was a great experience!!! While I was there, I learned a lot about business. I talked to Tom, the CEO, and he told me about The Motley Fool. He was very funny. He even offered me an internship when I am older.

He is in charge of over 220 people. He told me that his job is like a principal's job. The main thing he has to do is help people figure out what to do. Just like my principal does with the teachers. It may be a hard job but it is fun.

The next two people I met were Tim and Nate. They are the authors of Global Gains. Their job is to go around the world and research companies. They even went to China. But they had to do a lot of research before going to China. But I bet they still had fun.

Then I met Seth and Andy. They work on Hidden Gems. What I do in school is like what they do. The math I did this school year and what Mr. Keith taught me, they do for a living. I might be perfect for this job! But I will stick to being a graphic designer.

Finally, I met Brian and Ilan. They work on headlines on the Motley Fool website. They work with all articles. There are 14,687 on the website. Their articles had over 1 million page views. In conclusion, the best thing was the game room. That was my experience at The Motley Fool.
